1890.

TO COLLECTORS.

The phenomenal success of my last Coin Sale emboldens me to believe that at least equal attention will be bestowed upon the present Catalogue, in its entirety of much greater importanee and interest than the former.

The English Crowns deserve special attention, for rarely has a finer or more complete set been offered; the gold Coins Charlotte and Dahlonega m. are of deserved interest to collectors of American mint marks. Quite a number are of notable rarity, and seldom find their way into auction sale catalogues. This splendid Collection of Roman Silver Denarii, mostly portrait coins of early emperors and generals, is the last and most important part of a famous cabinet; it may be said, en passant, that a duplication of these, in equally fine condition, could not now be made abroad in less than three or four years, at a cost far higher than the probable very modest results to be now obtained. The Collection of American Store Cards is the property of a gentleman who has been in the field as an active and actual buyer and collector for at least thirty years; in its way it is unique, and of great interest to American collectors. The owner took especial delight in improving the condition of every piece, until each specimen was the best obtainable, and as nearly all the rarities of the J. N. T. Levick and other collections were absorbed into this cabinet, it is safe to assert that, with the exception of New York, this is the most complete Collection of our early Store Cards ever offered at auction, and that none comparable to this exists. The Peace Medals (at the end) comprise a small number of beautiful medals alike interesting for their historical importance, artistic excellence and rarity. A large number of Cents, Half Cents, Foreign Coppers, etc., also Foreign Crowns, forming at least three small cabinets, the respective properties of the Rev. Dr. Kenneth F. Junor, of New York; F. H. Shepard, Esq., of Watertown, N. Y.; Mrs. Sara Levi, Oxford, O., and others, have been thrown in between to fill up the gaps. These will probably sell unusually low, and it will give dealers and exchange collectors opportunities of purchase rarely met with under such favorable circumstances. This Catalogue is placed free of charge in the hands of every collector known to me, or making application for the same. Bids should be made at so much per piece, not lot, and will be carefully executed by myself, and all dealers from whom a copy of this Catalogue is received.

I believe that every coin in this Catalogue is genuine and authentic; exceptions, if any, are noted.

ED. FROSSARD.

Mr. C. W. Betts, while a student at Yale College, New Haven, amused himself, during his hours of leisure, in designing and striking curious imitations of Colonial and other coinages, which he exchanged for other coins or distributed among his friends. In after years all specimens of his work were eagerly bought back by him and destroyed; they are now excessively rare — indeed but very few have ever found their way into Coin Sale Catalogues.

COLLECTION OF PEACE MEDALS.

These superb historical medals relate to important events connected with the history of America, or were struck for treaties of peace affecting the Colonies in America and the United States in the early period of independence. They are of paramount interest and importance to American numismatists, for which reason especially the cataloguer hopes that all will find appropriate places in the cabinets of our representative collectors.

958 Bust in armor and broad ruffled collar of Peter Hein, commander of the fleet of the Dutch West India Co. of 31 sails, which intercepted and captured the richly laden Spanish silver fleet off Matanzas, Cuba, Sept. 7, 1628. PET: PETRI, HEINIUS FOED: BELG: ORD: ARCHITALASS; rev., views of the naval engagement, HEINIAD NVP SENSIT SPOLIATA MATANCA, 1628. Silver, extremely fine work, in beautiful and perfect preservation. 38.

This and the two following were struck by order of the States General from some of the American silver captured on that occasion. The entire amount was valued at 12 million Crowns, and greatly enriched the United Provinces at the expense of her enemies. For this signal service the States bestowed upon Heinius the title of Admiral of Holland.
